Triangulation boosts PSIRF investigations

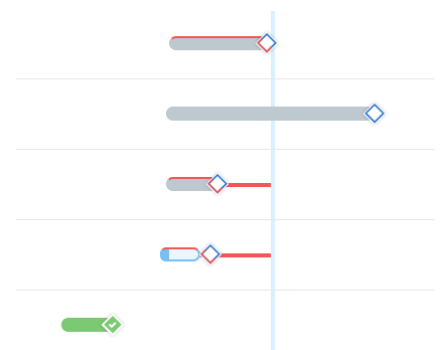

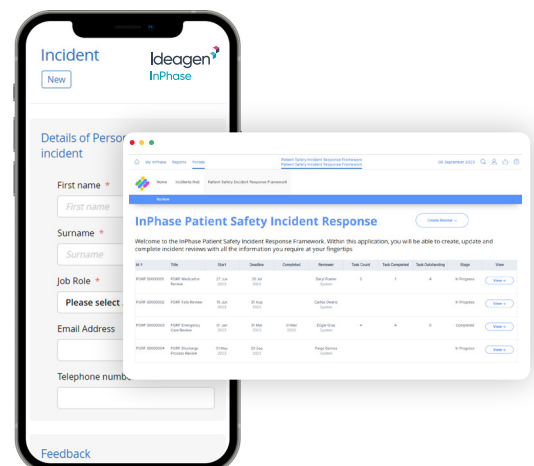

You can triangulate PSIRF investigations with incidents, feedback, claims, audits, quality and more because improving patient safety needs more powerful insight. Any new incidents that get reported can be connected to ongoing investigations and appear in your dashboards straight away so you can stay in the know at all times.

Effortlessly evidence investigations for more insight

Adding evidence to PSIRF investigations is easy with simple attachments that mean you can add documents, extra free-text and photos to build out the most detailed picture of the investigation. As you click into each section, you can see extra evidence, narrative or commentary added by others, add you own or create a conversation that gives you more context into what you are looking at.

Aligned, accountable actions

Get a jump start on improving patient safety by creating actions that link to investigations so you can make sure that the problem is being dealt with. You can even link actions to multiple investigations, incidents, feedback and claims so you can avoid doubling up on effort. In the actions tracker, you can track actions from start to finish including the progress, due date and owner.

Improve fast

Manage PSIRF investigations in one place from start to finish. Find problem areas fast, see the progress of all investigations and create linked actions to improve.

Improvement focused learning

Make sure that learning and improvement are at the heart of investigations so that you can focus on patient safety and providing excellent care.

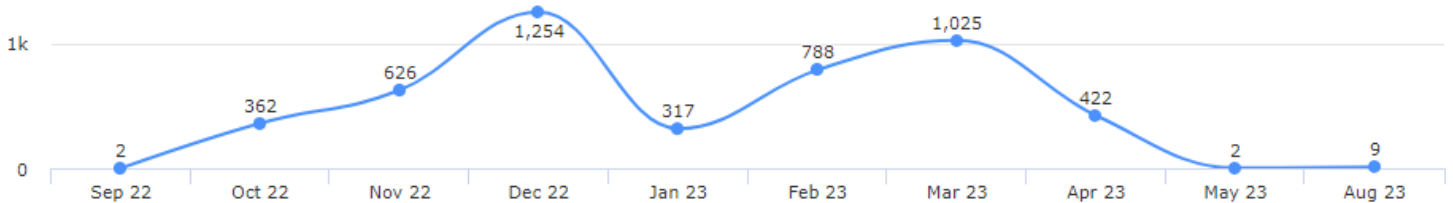

Stay up-to-date

Always get the most accurate and complete picture with live dashboards that update in real time. Make sure that you have the information at the ready to give assurance that investigations are well on their way.

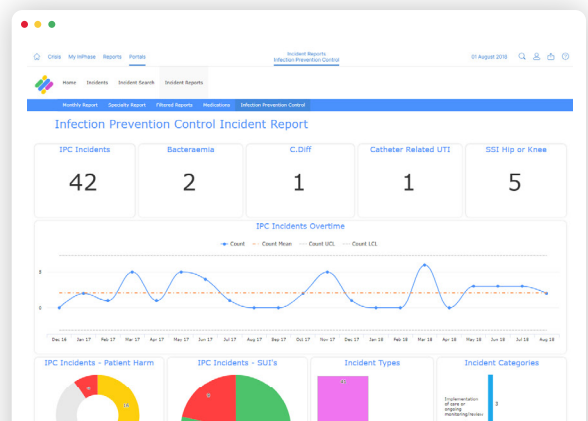

Make stronger decisions

Get to the bottom of investigations faster with triangulation so you can make better decisions based on fact. Swiftly find trends and causes to create aligned actions that have the most impact to drive improvement.
